What do you pay to this financial service provider?

You will only find average prices here. The average price is the price that customers pay in a comparable situation. The more complex your financial situation, the more you usually pay. Your financial service provider will inform you about the exact price. Always have agreements recorded, so that you know what the financial service provider does for you and how much you pay for it. With a Mortgage Check subscription or with a mortgage (refinancing and purchasing), the compensation component for advice on bank savings and annuity insurance is no longer applicable.

What can this financial service provider do for you in the future?

Always return to a financial service provider if your personal situation changes. Because of these changes, the wealth building product may no longer fit your situation. For example, because your family situation or income changes. Then you may pay too much or run more risk than you want.

For an orientation interview, you can always contact a financial service provider. Is there an important change in your wealth building product? Then the financial service provider or provider will contact you, without you paying for it.

Does this financial service provider also offer maintenance services? 1

For maintenance services you pay an amount via a fixed rate or a subscription.

For more information about other services in the future, please visit the website of your financial service provider <https://vergelijkdesk.nl/downloads/>

1 With maintenance services, a financial service provider can monitor with you whether there are any changes that require an adjustment to your wealth building product.
